

Eberl Claims Service Selects the SyberWorks Hosted Learning Management System to Provide Claims Adjuster Training

Waltham, Massachusetts – February 11, 2009

SyberWorks Inc., a leader in the Learning Management Systems industry, announced today that they signed an agreement with Eberl Claims Service, Inc. to provide claims adjuster training.

Jennifer Whiteaker, Director of Claims Training, says, “Eberl Claims Service, Inc. is a nationwide provider of claims adjusters for the insurance industry. When a disaster happens, we can ramp up very quickly to provide claims adjusters wherever they are needed. Our adjusters are independent contractors who can quickly deploy to any catastrophe. For example, in response to Hurricane Katrina, we had to train and deploy several hundred claims adjusters in a matter of days.

“Eberl once used a limited online corporate university, but we soon realized that the system was not meeting our needs. So we decided to search out and purchase a full-featured LMS that would give us the flexibility we required to coordinate and provide training under local, state, and federal regulations. We evaluated five other LMS products, but found that the SyberWorks Hosted Learning Management System offered the functionality we needed, and was the best value for the money. The system gives us the flexibility to provide both training and updates to our claims adjusters, no matter where they have been sent.”

Dave Boggs, CEO of SyberWorks, states, “SyberWorks Hosted Learning Management System gives companies the flexibility they need to scale their training programs quickly and easily, with no disruptions in service as they work to meet the needs of their clients.”
