

ISyberWorks e-Learning Podcasts: Episode #3: Developing Learning Activities and Simulations in e-Learning Content

Waltham, Massachusetts –November 8, 2006

SyberWorks, a leader in custom e-Learning Solutions and the Learning Management System industry, today announces the next episode in their e-Learning Podcast Series, “Developing Learning Activities and Simulations in e-Learning Content.”

Dave Boggs, CEO of SyberWorks states:

“The third podcast in the SyberWorks e-Learning Podcast Series is an interview with Dana Fine, Senior Instructional Designer here at SyberWorks, who talks about creating learning activities and simulations for e-Learning content. Mary Kay Lofurno, Director of Marketing at SyberWorks, narrates the series. They will be discussing the use of various question types, such as single- and multiple- correct, item matching, fill-in-the-blank, true/false, short answer, and essay; and how they may be used in simulation development.”
