

SyberWorks Announces New Switching Learning System Software Video

Waltham, Massachusetts – June 9, 2010

SyberWorks Inc., a leader in the Learning Management Systems industry, announced today that they released a new video, ‘When to Switch Learning System Software.’

Dave Boggs, CEO of SyberWorks says,

“Today, SyberWorks announces the first in a series of videos designed to instruct training managers and e-learning professionals on various topics in the learning management industry. This first video looks at when a company should switch its learning system software.”

The video can be found on YouTube.com at <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fCDRrCJ0Zzk>.

The SyberWorks Learning Management System/Learning Content Management System

SyberWorks Training Center (STC) is a Web-based Learning Management System (LMS)/Learning Content Management System (LCMS) that provides complete solutions for managing and tracking all types of training at your organization — from e-Learning courses to traditional classroom training and self-paced study programs. The STC includes extensive testing and assessment tools, reporting, management, communication and collaboration tools, and quality control capabilities — all in one integrated database application that is highly scalable to precisely meet your organization’s needs. The SyberWorks Training Center LMS/LCMS can be purchased as an enterprise license or hosted application.

About SyberWorks

SyberWorks, Inc. (www.syberworks.com) is a leader in the custom e-Learning Solutions and Learning Management System industries for Fortune 1000 corporations, higher education, and other organizations. Located in Waltham, Massachusetts, the company serves the multi-billion-dollar e-Learning market. Since 1995, SyberWorks has developed and delivered unique and economical solutions to create, manage, measure, and improve e-Learning programs at companies and organizations in the United States, Canada, Europe, and other countries.